Birthday Bash Policies Agreement

Booking your Party:

We encourage you to book in advance as our dates fill up fast. Please choose at least 3 dates for your requested party. Party dates set more than 30 days ahead of time can only reserve the month. The specific date will be determined once the party month approaches. To book your party, you must first email our event coordinator. A deposit of $125 is due at time of booking, along with a signed copy of our policies agreement. Bookings are first paid (with policy agreement form signed) first serve. All deposits are non-refundable and non-transferable to another party. Deposits must be made in store or on our website.

Credit Card on File:

A credit card must be on file for the Birthday Organizer. Your booking reservation is not secure until we receive this policy agreement with credit card information. The remaining party balance must be paid in full in person at your event. This credit card will only be used to pay for an outstanding balance, unpaid merchandise from party goers or damage to products in the store.

Supervision:

Blast staff members are not paid to supervise children. Parents and the party organizer are responsible for maintaining respectful behavior inside the store. The store is open to the public during parties, therefore children must be accounted for by parents and the party organizer. Blast! Toys, Cards and Gaming are not responsible for managing behavior, injuries that occur due to negligence of the parent or party organizer, or any other matter related to your children's supervision.

Merchandise:

Every item on display is for sale. We are not a play park. Children are encouraged to shop and enjoy their experience, however disrespectful use of merchandise may result in additional charges for damages to the product. All items must stay near their designated display, unless they are to be purchased. Items are not to be thrown or played with unless purchased.

Game Area:

There are several board games and activities located on our game shelf. All party attendees have access to use this free station. Please supervise children, as small parts may come in some games. Game pieces are not to be placed in children's mouths or thrown. Please make sure children put all game pieces back into the proper box neatly and put them back on the game shelf.

Food & Drink:

We encourage you to bring food and beverages as we do not provide these items. All food and beverages must stay at the tables. No food or drink is permitted near merchandise displays. We also ask that children have clean hands before shopping or playing with the characters. Alcohol, drugs, vaping or smoking is prohibited in or around the store. If you wish to have candles for your celebration you will need to provide them. To assure your guests and our store is kept safe and adheres to fire codes, we ask that you only light the candles for your event desert once everyone has gathered around the birthday trainer. Lighting candles for your dessert and then picking it up to bring it to the birthday trainer is a violation and puts everyone at risk along with the store itself.

Character Presentation:

Our characters love to interact with children at the party. They will take photos, dance and play. The characters can not see behind them, so we ask parents to make sure children are not playing behind the character. While interacting our characters love hugs and even pets. They do not like to be pulled or hit. Please make sure children are gentle while interacting with the Pokemon.

Card Trading:

We offer a staff member to facilitate card trading. All cards brought into the store must be real Pokemon cards. If you are not sure if your cards are real our staff facilitator will be there to educate you and the children. The facilitator is also there to help manage fair trades. Ultimately, trading is the responsibility of the owner of the card(s) and Blast! Toys, Cards and Gaming is not responsible for unhappy trades.

*Note: Holiday Weekend Bookings or Short Notice Parties (less than 8 days)- are $320 base price
